CC Asks Redevelopment, Viaduct Action Council Action Upheld on TV Franchise

DESIGNED FOR HUDSON RIVER NAVIGATION—This is the first modern push-type diesel tugboat specifically designed for Hudson River conditions which has been ordered by the Cornell Steamboat Company, subsidiary of New York Trap Rock Corporation.

The new tugboat, designed by Dravo Corporation, Pittsburgh, Pa., is propelled by two engines which produce a combined 1800 horsepower. The new craft, 105 feet long and 30 feet wide, will be capable of pushing 20 of Trap

Rock's loaded crushed stone barges at approximately 4½ miles per hour.

Pushing of large barge fleets, long practiced on the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers, has proven to be more efficient than side or pull towing. According to C. W. Spangenberg, Cornell president, the contract with Dravo contains an option for the construction of one or two additional tugboats. They will play a large part in scurrying Trap Rock's fleet of 239 deck cargo barges—largest in the country—up and down the Hudson River.

Commends County Jail Condition, Operation

Senior Inspector Richard E. Woodward of the State Commission of Correction has renewed a recommendation to Kingston City officials to give serious consideration to providing their own detention facilities at City Hall, and he asserted the general condition of the Ulster County jail and equipment is commendable.

Inspector Woodward's recommendation and commendation are noted in reports of a periodic inspection made in April of the city and county jails and equipment.

Against Long Detention

The inspector evidently found no reason to make recommendations.

Five Are Injured As Car Goes Off Minnewaska Trail

Five persons, all members of the same family, were treated at Veterans Memorial Hospital, Ellenville, Thursday afternoon following a one-car mishap on Route 44-55 about five miles east of Route 209.

The accident occurred as Mrs. Steven Wechsler, 29, of New York City, was proceeding west on Route 44-55 (Minnewaska Trail) and lost control of the car on a sharp right downgrade curve.

The car left the highway on the north side and climbed diagonally up and along an embankment, then rolling completely over, coming to rest facing north.

Treated besides Mrs. Wechsler, were:

- Steven Wechsler, 31, contusions of the forehead, left shoulder and multiple abrasions of both knees.
- Howell Wechsler, 4½ months, multiple lacerations of the skull and contusions of the nose.
- Barbara, seven years, contusions and abrasions of the nose.
- Michael, five, multiple abrasions of the back of the head.

They were taken to the hospital by Humiston Ambulance, Kerhonkson.

$313,000 Road Job For County to Be Let on August 6

A $313,000 highway project in Ulster County will be let on contract by the State Department of Public Works Aug. 6, Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson and Supervisor Jesse McHugh of Town of Shawangunk announced today.

The project involves reconstruction of a 1.35 mile section of Hoagsburgh Hill Road (county road 70) and a new span over Shawangunk-kill.

Starting at the intersection of County Road 148 about a mile west of Galeville, the new construction will extend north and westward to County Road 39-B intersection in Brunswick.

There will be a new two-span 186-foot long, 26-foot wide bridge constructed to carry the new 20-foot wide highway over the Shawangunk-kill.

Injunction Denied by Bookstein Move on Appeal Not Certain Today

A move made to gain an injunction through a taxpayer's action against franchise rights held by Kingston Cablevision, Inc., has been denied by Supreme Court Justice Isadore Bookstein, Corporation Counsel William A. Kelly said today.

The decision, at least pending possible appeal, removes restraint from Kingston Cablevision in proceeding with its project of providing cable service for better TV reception in the city. Phases of installation have been under way for some time.

Common Council action in granting franchise rights to Kingston Cablevision, Inc., it was noted in April, was being attacked by James W. Harper, 62 Hurley Avenue, through a taxpayer's action in Supreme Court. Walter Reade Jr., of Reade Theatre interests, was listed as applicant to intervene as party-plaintiff.

Harper, represented by Attorney Arthur B. Ewig, contends that a franchise approved Jan. 6 by the Common Council, was unlawfully granted.

49-Star Flag Official at 12:01 July 4

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's new 49-star flag comes officially into existence at one minute past midnight tonight. It will take the place of the 48-star banner that has symbolized America for 47 years.

Designed for inclusion of Alaska as the 49th state, the new red, white and blue standard will be raised in colorful ceremonies at Ft. McHenry in Baltimore and at Independence Hall in Philadelphia.

The Capitol and the White House also will hoist new flags. Many other government buildings will continue to fly the old 48-star flag because hundreds are still on hand. It will be legal, both for the government and for private citizens, to fly the old-style banners until they wear out.

Alaska became the 49th state last January, but under the law a new flag's birthday must await July 4. Hawaii is expected to become the 50th state soon, but a new 50-star flag will not become official until July 4, 1960.

The last change in the flag was in 1912. Then, in the administration of President William Howard Taft, stars were added for New Mexico, admitted Jan. 6, and Arizona, brought into the union Feb. 14.

The new 49-star flag has a field of seven staggered rows of seven stars each. It is not definite what the new 50th star flag will look like.

Six Trooper Mess Halls to Close in Move for Economy

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — New York State is closing the mess halls of the six State Police trooper barracks, in an economy move.

The end of meal service was ordered by the State Budget Division and State Police Superintendent Francis S. McGarvey. It is expected to save about $50,000 a year, a budget division spokesman said today.

"Changing times" account for the move, State Police say. Many troopers today are married and spend more time at home. Many others are dispersed at substations throughout the state.

Kitchens in barracks at Batavia and Hawthorne already are closed.

The mess for barracks nearing completion at Loudonville will be converted for office use.

The others — at Malone, Sidney and Oneida — will stop serving meals by Aug. 26, Capt. Charles Mink, State Police executive officer, reported.

Injunction Sought To Stop Buzzanco Junk Yard Site

An action to enjoin Andy Buzzanco of 267 Abell Street from continuing to operate a junk yard on the premises in violation of an order of the Zoning Board, has been instituted in court, it was disclosed today by George Beck, chairman of the Kingston Zoning Board.

A complaint was served Thursday under which the Zoning Board seeks a permanent injunction against Buzzanco and also seeks to recover civil penalty for non-compliance with its order of last February.

Penalty $100 a Day

Under the law a civil penalty of $100 a day for each day of violation may be imposed.

Frank C. Sass, Seventh Ward alderman and 14 other persons residing in that ward in the area of Hudson, Abell, German, Hunter, Spruce and Ridge Streets petitioned the Zoning Board to take action. The Zoning Board made an inspection January 23 and later issued an order directing Buzzanco to clean up the property within 90 days after holding the junk yard was being operated in violation of the City Zoning Ordinance.

Not Cleaned Up

The situation has not been corrected, Beck said, and even though the Board has sought co-operation from Buzzanco in recent days, promises to comply with the order have not been kept and the Board was compelled to turn to court action.

The complaint was served Thursday in which the court is asked to grant a permanent injunction and force compliance with the Zoning Board order. Meanwhile a temporary injunction, pending trial of the principal action, will be sought. This application for a temporary injunction is returnable before Supreme Court Justice William Deekelman at Monticello on July 17. Corporation Counsel William A. Kelly appears for the Zoning Board.

Given 90 Days Time

In an opinion handed down last February, following inspection of the premises by the Board, the Zoning Board gave Buzzanco 90 days to clean up.

The break in the case came, none seriously. The blaze damaged a highly-secret underground section of the building and disrupted the operations of the entire work force of some 29,000 civilian and military employees. (NEA Telephoto)

Biggest Burglary in World

Trio Nabbed in Theft Of $8½ Million Bonds

CHICAGO (AP)—A story of international high finance was unfolded by the FBI in the wake of the arrest of three men in connection with the theft of 8½ million dollars in Canadian bonds.

The FBI called the theft the biggest burglary in the world.

Taken in 1958

The bonds, plus cash and jewelry, were taken May 3, 1958, from the Brockville Trust and Savings Co., Brockville, Ont., by a gang of safecrackers using blowtorches.

The FBI said men seized Thursday all were involved in attempts to dispose of part of the loot. One of their schemes, said U.S. Asst. Atty. James B. Parsons, was to try to purchase a European bank as a clearing house.

Arrested were three Americans—among five persons named in a suppressed indictment returned by a federal grand jury here June 30. The other two are Canadians still at large.

Those Captured

Captured were Sam Mannarino, 32, New Kensington, Pa.; Norman Rothman, 44, Surfside, Fla., who is under indictment in Pittsburgh for running guns to Cuba; and William Rabin, 32, Chicago.

Mannarino was arraigned in Pittsburgh before U.S. Commissioner Alex McNaughton and freed on $5,000 bond.

Rabin, a business consultant, was free on bond at the time of his arrest in Miami on earlier charges he received $98,000 in stolen bonds.

Still being sought are Rene Robert and Giuseppe Coltoni, both of Montreal. Three other men had been seized last year in connection with the bonds.

The indictment charges that Rabin put up as security more than $138,000 worth of Canadian bonds at a Chicago bank in September and October 1958. It further charged him with fraud by wire in pledging $140,000 in stolen bonds to a Swiss bank.

Rabin has denied any knowledge the bonds were stolen.

Notices Go To Mayor On Issues

Executive Group Makes Decisions

The Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce today asked for the appointment of an Urban Redevelopment Committee and the removal of Washington Avenue viaduct.

These actions were included in resolutions approved at a meeting of the executive committee late yesterday at which president Frederick H. Stang presided.

One resolution reaffirmed previous actions asking the Kingston Common Council to appropriate the necessary funds to engage qualified planning consultants, including the filing of an application for Urban Redevelopment. The same resolution asks the Mayor to take the necessary action to appoint a special Urban Redevelopment Committee, to study the redevelopment needs of the City, review proposals and plans and recommend action to the Common Council.

Officials Complimented

The other resolution compliments officials responsible for recent area progress made to meet growing transportation needs, asks for the removal of the Washington Avenue viaduct and the construction of a new adequate bridge over the Esopus Creek adjacent to the viaduct.

Two new membership applications were presented and approved. They are the Duso Outlet Store, represented by William Deloff, 466 Albany Avenue; and Your Home Food Service of the Capital Dist., represented by Paul Fuller, 1551 Central Avenue, Albany, N. Y.

It was reported that the recent reprint of 2,500 copies of the general information brochure is practically exhausted and another reprint was authorized.

Asks Council for Funds

The Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce has consistently been in favor of planning for future community development, the resolution on urban redevelopment said.

It said further, "the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce is already on record in favoring the employment of qualified professional persons to prepare a master plan for the future development of the City of Kingston, including the preparation of an application for Urban Renewal."

The report was it resolved that the Common Council be asked to appropriate the necessary funds to employ qualified planning consultants; and

Committee Proposed

Be it further resolved that the Mayor be asked to take the necessary steps as promptly as possible to appoint an Urban Redevelopment Committee, consisting of representative citizens of the entire city, to study the redevelopment needs of the city, review proposals made, work with the City Planning Board, as well as all other official bodies involved and recommend action which should be taken to

Pentagon Fire Ruins Electronic Machines

Electronic brain machines that cost millions of dollars bore the brunt of the damage as a four-hour fire disrupted normal activities in the Pentagon at Washington, D. C.

This was reported today by the Associated Press.

Whether any of the equipment was manufactured by International Business Machines Corporation could not be learned today as both the Kingston and Poughkeepsie plants were closed for an extended July 4 holiday.

The AP report said:

The fire burned out the heart of the 400-square-foot Air Force statistical center Thursday but was limited to that area of the huge building, the nerve center of the U.S. armed forces.

Key personnel remained on duty, but most of the 30,000 military and civilian employees were sent home when the blaze affected electrical and water supplies. They will return Monday.

In the windowless, ground-level area where the fire burned, the computing machines stood today like the hulks of charred packing crates. Around them were shelves after shelf of film reels which had held about 7,000 rolls of magnetic tape—the "memory" devices for the expensive machines. They contained chiefly personnel data.

Some secret papers also were burned, but Pentagon officials said most if not all the lost data can be replaced.

Official estimates of damage will have to wait until after a thorough investigation.

The cause of the fire still isn't known. There was speculation that it might have been touched off by defective electrical wiring.

Cuban Unrest Is Gaining on Word Of Troop Actions

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Wide-spread troop movements were reported today in Cuba with Fidel Castro's government showing concern over mounting counterrevolutionary activity.

Secret police seized an arms cache in a Havana suburb Thursday. They arrested eight men in a case they described as having "the most important counterrevolutionary implications."

41 Persons Held

Troop reinforcements are reportedly moving into eastern Cuba, where 41 persons have been arrested for acts of sabotage, and into western Cuba, where guerrilla bands are operating in the mountains.

Much of the unrest stems from the government's agrarian reform program breaking up big estates.

Among the eight men seized in the Havana raid were six police described as "former military men." The implication was they served in the forces under former dictator Fulgencio Batista.

Behind the plot, police said, were ex-Sen. Rolando Masferrer, now in Miami, Fla., and Jose Pedraza, a former general who now shares Batista's exile in the Dominican Republic.

Death Decree Ordered

The upsurge of anti-Castro activity during the past month, with a rash of minor explosions and acts of sabotage, has brought a government order decreeing the death sentence for counterrevolutionary acts.

The unrest shook the revolutionary armed forces when air force commander Pedro Luis Diaz Lanz resigned, charging Communist infiltration of both the armed forces and the government.

Prime Minister Castro told a television audience that Diaz's resignation was a "traitorous act," timed to coincide with a period of difficult international relations for Cuba.

Although Castro did not spell it out, his lengthy indictment of Diaz was heavily salted with suggestions that the airman was influenced by U.S. interests.

Castro declared that if Diaz, who has gone into hiding, is caught he will face a military tribunal.

Council Action

noted, "moves for a temporary injunction. Petitioner Walter Reade Jr., moves for permission to intervene as a party-plaintiff. Defendants move for summary judgment dismissing the complaint, or in the alternative, for judgment on the pleadings."

After citing substantiating precedent in law and court rulings, the decision said: "The ordinance under attack by plaintiff is a valid exercise of power under Section 27 of the Transportation Corporations Law."

No Fraud, Corruption

On the claim that the Common Council had "abused its discretion and favored defendant, 'Cablevision,' in passing the ordinance referred to," it noted that no charge of fraud or corruption is made. It noted a "quarrel with" Common Council procedure, but finally ruled: "So long as the procedure violates no express statutory command or prohibition, the courts have no power to review or interfere with the procedure of a legislative body."

Not Empowered to Review

The decision added: "In the absence of fraud or corruption, the courts are not empowered to review the actions of legislative bodies or to inquire into the motives which actuate them."

It concluded: "Motion of plaintiff for a temporary injunction denied; application of Walter Reade, Jr., to intervene as a party-plaintiff denied; cross-motion of defendants for summary judgment granted."

Would Start Over

Kingston Wired Television Co., an Ellenville company, which also claims it holds a valid franchise to provide television cable service in the city, recently proposed that all previous applications be denied, in favor of a fresh start with only one company or corporation being permitted to hold a franchise.

Such procedure, it proposed in a letter read at a recent Common Council meeting, would eliminate legal entanglement such as that cited above, and would permit a single operator to provide better service. The letter was read and filed without recommendation.

Mishap Helps Deaf Boy Regain Hearing

GARDEN GROVE, Calif. (AP) — Two months ago 4-year-old J. Byron Patterson dashed into the street, was hit by a car and dragged 44 feet.

A leg and ribs were broken. He underwent four-hour brain surgery for multiple head injuries.

Yet his mother says: "For his sake, it's the best thing that has ever happened."

Since the accident the boy, almost deaf since birth, has begun to hear.

Now the tinkle of the ice cream vendor's bell, the slam of the car door when his father returns from work, his mother's voice all have become part of his small world.

J. Byron—the J doesn't stand for anything, and he's called "J.B."—is a handsome, healthy-looking youngster who gets his kicks these days out of trying to understand the words family members speak to him.

He wore a hearing aid before the accident. But it didn't help much. He couldn't hear well enough to learn to talk.

"It was in the hospital that we first noticed he was regaining his hearing," says his mother Dorothy. "I took him a picture of the family to keep him company. I started to point out his brothers and sisters and he began to pull at his ears."

"Since he came home he has started making sounds. Right now he sounds like a baby, but then he has a lot of time to make up for."

J.B. is enjoying life as never before with his four brothers and a sister. His father Floyd is a tool engineer.

Doctors think the head injury may have alleviated a blood deficiency. Soon the boy will undergo extensive tests to determine exactly how much hearing he has gained.

Says his mother, happily: "We had planned to enter him in a school for the deaf in September. But now we may not have to."

Marks 45th Year

Wolfersteig Is Honored by C-H For Long Service

Clarence F. Wolfersteig, Connelly, Town of Esopus, was honored this week on the occasion of his 45th anniversary of service with the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation. He was cited for his long utility career and was presented with a service emblem by Central Hudson President Ernest R. Acker at ceremonies in the company's general office in Poughkeepsie.

Wolfersteig is one of six active Central Hudson employees with 45 or more years' continuous service. He began his utility career on July 1, 1914 with the former Kingston Gas and Electric Company, a predecessor company in the Central Hudson System, and has served during most of his company career as a storekeeper in Kingston.

Wolfersteig is a past treasurer of the Central Hudson Employees Quarter Century Club.

Long in Bad Shape

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Gov. Earl K. Long clung today to his plan to launch a re-election campaign Saturday. His final decision apparently rested on an electrocardiograph damage check on his ailing heart.

"He's in bad shape," said Dr. Paul Pratt, a psychiatrist assigned to Long.

The 63-year-old Long—one week out of a mental hospital—suddenly abandoned his temporary capital in a pine-shaded Covington

Both Sides Drop Assault Charges

A merry-go-round of assault charges was voided in city court today when complainants on both sides withdrew charges.

The charges date back to June 20 when Kenneth Francis White, 17, of 46 Sycamore Street and Ralph Whitaker, 18, same address, arrested each other after a reported fight in front of 39 Chambers Street.

Then George H. Whitaker, 20, of 44 Meadow Street, was arrested by White after a fight at 44 Meadow Street, police said. Attorney Matthew A. Weishaup appeared for the Whitakers and Richard Griggs for White.

Body of Dutchess Youth Found in Hudson Thursday

The body of Raymond George Whitney, 18, of 1 Davis Street, Poughkeepsie, who drowned early Monday night while swimming in the Hudson River just north of Riverfront Park, that city, was found about 7 p. m. Thursday floating about 100 feet off shore near the Central Hudson plant.

The body was found by Carl Redl of Poughkeepsie who was out in his motorboat.

Discovery of the body ended an intensive search for the missing youth by Poughkeepsie police, Dutchess County Deputy sheriffs, volunteers and skindivers.

Whitney, accompanied by Jeffrey McGrath, 12, of 1 Davis Street, and Frank Morrison, 23, of 187 Main Street, Poughkeepsie, leaped into Valkill creek about 6 p. m. Monday attired in his pants and shoes. He left his wallet, a handkerchief and a T-shirt on a dock near the Poughkeepsie Dyestuff Corporation. Shortly after he entered the water he disappeared under the surface but seconds later reappeared struggling.

According to police, the McGrath youth was nearby. He swam to the assistance of Whitney and gripped the youth, but Whitney fought and pulled McGrath under the surface. The boy managed to free himself as Whitney submerged a second time. He did not reappear.

Morrison was unable to reach the drowning youth. Police said Whitney dove into the Valkill and then swam a short distance in the creek. The Hudson River before he went under. Friends said the victim was considered a fairly good swimmer.

Beneficial Makes Cash-Credit Cards

For the 20th consecutive year, the Beneficial Finance System is mailing to almost two million of its proven customers "spare pocketbooks" in the form of International Cash-Credit Cards good for loans up to $500.

The cards, pioneered by Beneficial in 1939, are presented at any one of the 1,150 affiliated Beneficial Loan offices throughout the United States and Canada.

Alfred E. Mockett, advertising director for Beneficial Finance System, pointed out that these cards are not simply courtesy cards or honor cards, but are valuable credit references.

He foresees that these credit cards will be especially valuable to the vacation traveler who decides he wants to spend a few extra days on his trip or to a stranger who has moved to a strange town and is faced with extra expenses. The cards will also serve as credit rating for a person who wants to cash a check or open a charge account, he said.

Americans Weary Of World Affairs, Senator Declares

HAMILTON, N.Y. (AP)—Americans seem to be weary of world affairs, says U. S. Sen. Harrison A. Williams (D-N.J.).

Most Americans—and many of their statesmen—apparently consider world leadership a burden, he said Thursday night in a message to the 11th annual Foreign Policy Conference at Colgate University.

Forty nations, represented by persons, participated in the five-day conference, which ends today.

Williams was scheduled to speak at the conference but remained in Washington to vote on foreign-aid legislation. His Colgate speech was read for him.

Williams said Americans should regard world affairs as matters of direct, personal concern. "The cold war," he said, "is not a television program which can be forgotten by turning a switch."

There will be no publication of the Kingston Daily Freeman on Saturday, July 4 in observance of Independence Day.

FREEDOM DAY

Each year one hears old-timers remark that Independence Day isn't what it used to be. The slogan, "Hurray for the great and glorious Fourth," now brings a nostalgic smile.

The all-day booming of firecrackers and rockets, oratory and parades seems to have passed into limbo to be replaced by quiet family gatherings and private pursuits.

Yet this new mood is not due to patriotism going out of style. Perhaps it is because we are beginning to realize that "independence" is no longer an adequate word to describe the great event we celebrate.

Just who is independent today and what are they independent of? Not of government bureaucracy — sometimes good and sometimes bad. Not of foreign entanglements and responsibilities—which years of isolationism have proved to be inevitable, if not vitally necessary to the preservation of our nation.

Just how many of us would want to be independent today, if we could—independent of strong central government, allies, taxes and all the services that taxes pay for?

We must remember that the Continental Congress asserted that the colonies should be not only independent but free. There is a difference.

The founders of this nation believed that governments exist to make men free and to help them enjoy their freedom. Their tie to Britain was a bar to this goal so they wrote a Declaration of Independence.

Yes, it is freedom that we really celebrate today. But it was not secured to us by the men of '76 for all time to come. It is something that each generation must earn and preserve for itself.

Are we bartering away our freedom for a little security, both individually and nationally? Or are we putting the meaning of freedom into the broader context of a decent life for all, achieved through national and international cooperation, even though it may limit a certain kind of rugged individualism?

There's room for argument on both sides. And it's certainly worth thinking about, not only on this July 4th but every day of the year.

A MOTTO FOR OHIO

The state of Ohio has a new motto: "With God All Things Are Possible." The most noteworthy thing about it, apart from the implication of the motto itself, is that a 12-year-old Cincinnati boy persuaded the legislature to adopt it.

James Mastronardo was only nine when it struck him that "With God All Things Are Possible" would be a worthy exemplar for his home state. He carried his thought the step further which makes all the difference in such matters; he addressed the legislature in such a convincing way that the House approved the motto 112 to 0.

The story of James and his idea is worth remembering at a time when so much news about juveniles is of quite another sort. And Ohio's motto is one that all of us, Ohioans or not, would do well to bear in mind.

British atomic spy Klaus Fuchs, after serving nine years in prison has gone to East Berlin. It serves him right.

MORE SPENDING, MORE TAXES

The Citizens Public Expenditure Survey, a private tax research organization, notes that spending in New York State has been rising at a rate which has required substantial expansion of the tax structure in the past decade and declares that fiscal operations have been maintained on a sound basis by increasing and not by holding down expenses.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
SHOPPING AROUND

Not all colleges and universities are equal in their educational facilities or in the quality of their faculties. In fact, not all schools in one university are necessarily equal. For instance, a university may have an outstanding law school and a third-rate physics department or a first-rate medical school and a low-grade English department.

Education still depends upon men and women. One professor can lead a youth to the fountain of knowledge and get him to drink; another equally learned professor can hardly communicate his knowledge much less inspire anyone to go further. There is as much personality in teaching as knowledge. A truly great teacher will feed a generation.

I was recently shopping about colleges to see what he could get for his son. I assumed that he meant subjects, professors, qualifications. But no! What he was shopping for was money. He wanted to know how much money a university would provide if his son attended that particular institution. He wanted to know the money value of his son as a student.

Being somewhat naive about getting something for nothing, I assumed that this was an exaggeration until I received a pamphlet, "Credit for College—Student Loan Funds in the United States." It was issued by The College Life Insurance Company of America, Indianapolis, Indiana.

According to this pamphlet, more than 100,000 students are at college on long-term loans. College education has become expensive like everything else in this country. Besides, too many young people go to college who should not. Those who have the aptitude for study, no liking for the disciplines of learning are often forced to spend four years at some college, learning nothing, taking snap courses, getting by with a "C" which today, by various marking tricks that psychologists have devised, is an inflated mark. Such persons may be excellent mechanics or salesmen, but they will never really understand the difference in thought between Zeno and Zen, or why botany and zoology are parts of biology, or what was Einstein's great contribution to human culture.

These poor guys are driven to heavy doses of beer and smooching to get over the effects of calculus upon their nervous systems. They really need a break and a job in an A & P store would do as well as working for the Puller Brush Co. It is their parents who want the college, not the youngsters.

There can be nothing wrong about a student loan. I myself, got one for a semester one year back, for which I have been eternally grateful. However, this lending has become a big thing and as I look at the figures, I wonder how many of these students really needed a college education.

For instance, Massachusetts banks "participating in the Massachusetts Higher Education Assistance Corporation loan program have loaned approximately $1,250,000 to 2,000 students within the past 12 months." New York State banks did even better. They provided loans to 4,700 students, amounting to $2,600,000. The Methodist Church is the biggest lender for educational purposes—since 1872, almost $14,000,000 to more than 82,000 Methodist students.

The real problem of higher education is that it cannot be produced by cheaply. To many parents, the cost of producing a Ph.D. is so costly as to be prohibitive. The amount of work that is required by most good students makes working after school, except for waiting on table in the college dining hall, practically impossible. Besides the labor unions interfere with students doing jobs which they have segregated for their own members. When I went to college, many of us earned part of our way doing odd and end jobs which today are unavailable for students. It is even dangerous to earn an extra buck playing in a band, which used to be an excellent way to go through college.

As costs increase, parents will find it more difficult to keep their children at college; students will be short of pocket and clothes money. The latter is important as many campuses look like hoboes' jungles, particularly if there is a contingent of Beatniks who in addition to looking queer make a fetish of being dirty.

Money is always a problem to a student.

Tiny Drop of Blood Gives

Much Information to Doctor

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

H. E. asks for a discussion of blood count and writes, "How low this can get to account for lightheadedness and dizziness?"

It is by no means safe to conclude that such symptoms are caused by a low blood count.

However, because a complete medical examination includes studies of the blood, it is not surprising that many readers are curious about what can be revealed by such studies.

In essence, studies of the blood can show up certain changes in the body which are helpful in making a diagnosis and in following the course of a disease and its treatment.

A large number of tests can be made on the blood, or portions of it. Among the most common are counting the numbers of red and white blood cells and testing the hemoglobin or coloring matter.

For these examinations only tiny amounts of blood are necessary. A drop from the finger or ear is sufficient. Sometimes, of course, larger quantities are taken from a vein so that additional tests may be made on the same sample.

There are about five million red cells in a measured small amount of blood called a cubic millimeter—less in women. About 7,000 white cells are contained in the same amount of blood. Both kinds of cells are counted under a microscope. If the red cells are below a normal figure, anemia is present.

Determining the kind of anemia and its severity also requires examination of the coloring matter on the hemoglobin. By putting the results of the examination of the red cells and of the hemoglobin together, and by staining a thin film of blood on a glass slide and looking at it under the microscope, doctors can tell what form of anemia is present.

The white cells are also important, both their number and other characteristics. There may be too few white cells. This is not a good sign if infection is present in the body.

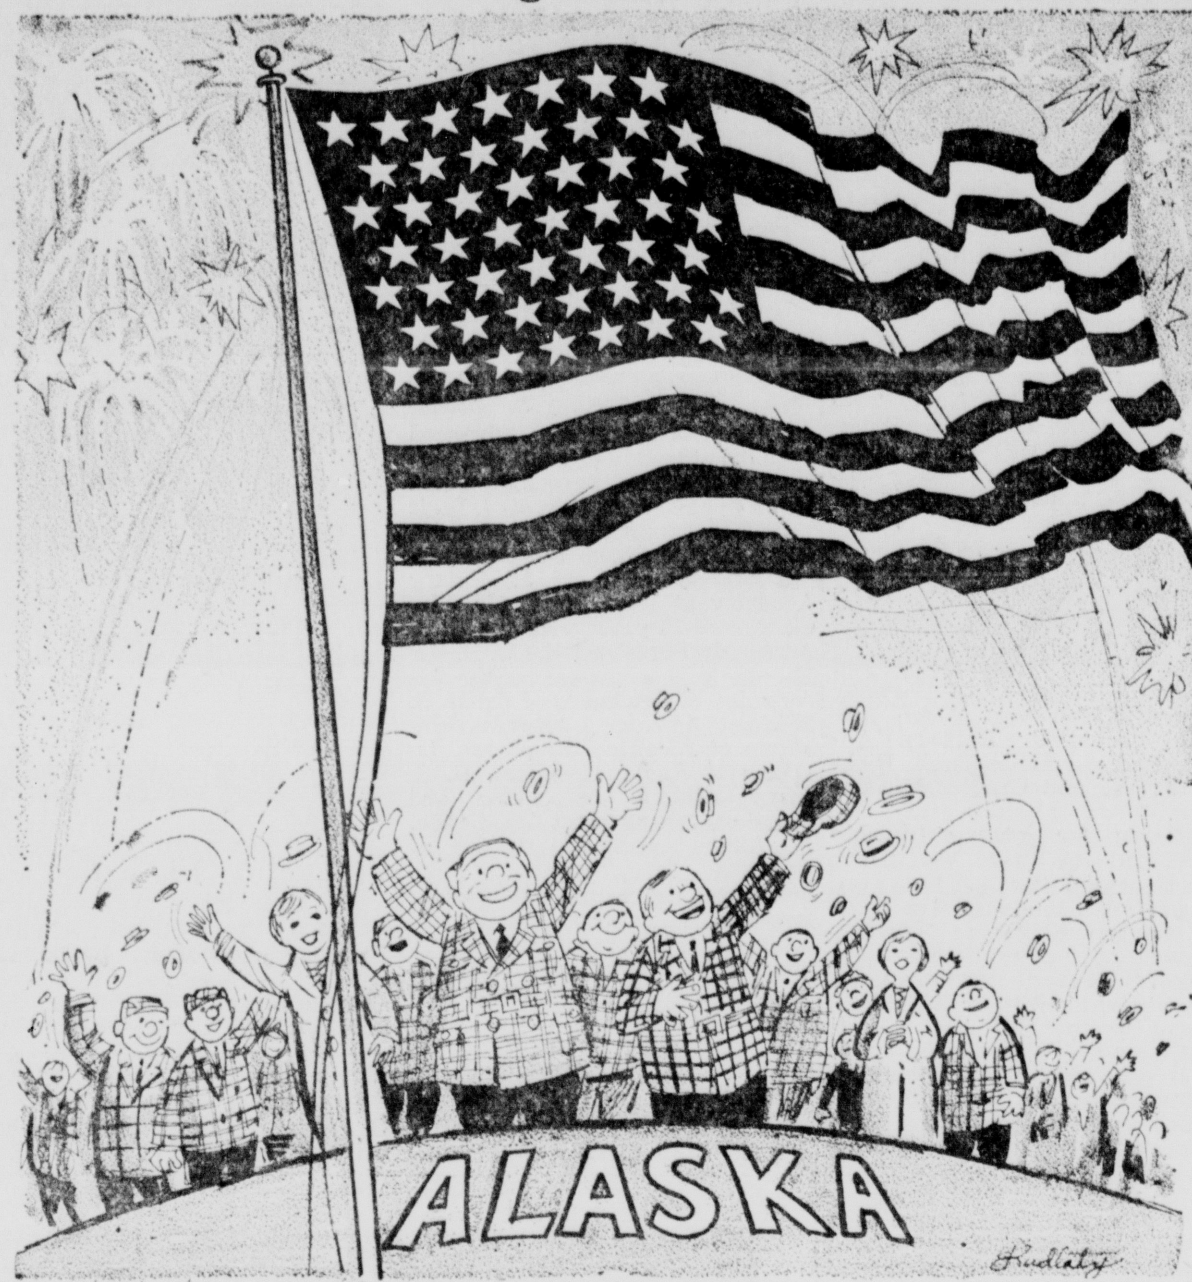

The number of white cells is usually increased in infections and in some other conditions. The number of white cells present, for example, is helpful in making a diagnosis of acute appendicitis.

There are many other things which the blood can show about the condition of the body. Special tests are available to determine whether germs are present in the blood and to find the amount of protein, calcium and other substances present.

Examination of the blood for sugar is, of course, important in diabetes. A blood test is the most reliable method for the diagnosis of syphilis. These and other tests of the blood have helped enormously in present-day diagnosis and treatment. Technical improvements in many such laboratory studies have been made and new ones are under constant study.

Unless future increases in spending are held to the amount of normal increases in revenue from existing taxes, new taxes or higher tax rates can be expected repeatedly in the future.

Diligence Rewarded

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — General Maxwell Davenport Taylor, who retires June 30 as U. S. Army chief of staff, told a National Press Club audience one of the real reasons he was quitting the service.

"For four years," said the brilliant General, "I've struggled to the best of my ability to modernize the United States Army, and my success has been limited. There's one thing I could do for the cause, I could withdraw one obsolescent general. And that I propose to do."

In retiring, General Taylor has the satisfaction of knowing that in General Lyman L. Lemnitzer he is leaving an experienced, highly intelligent officer to take his place. But Taylor admits that he is leaving most of his problems to his successor.

It raises the question, however, of why the United States has to lose the services of a general such as Taylor. He is only 57. He is in excellent health. He has announced no definite plans for the future.

Somewhat facetiously, he says he is open to offers of $100,000-a-year jobs in private industry, to which many another old soldier has not so quietly faded away.

GENERAL TAYLOR MIGHT soon have become eligible for appointment as chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, as it is the Army's "turn" to head JCS next.

General Nathan Twining of the Air Force, present JCS chairman, is recovering from a cancer operation. He is not expected to return to active duty for another month.

His present term expires August 14. He has been reappointed for another two-year term which he may or may not fill.

In retiring to private life, Taylor may do some writing, to see if he can put over in that way some of the ideas he could not put over while still in uniform.

One of the great problems on which General Taylor was apparently frustrated is the need for a complete reappraisal of United States military and strategic objectives.

HE BELIEVES THAT THE strategic concept of "massive retaliation" has now been invalidated.

He thinks there should be a new determination of the kinds of forces the United States needs for strategic retaliation, for continental air defense, for limited wars on the ground and for new antisubmarine warfare.

Having determined these things, Taylor thinks that the entire budget-making processes in department of defense should be recast. He thinks that budgeting should be done not in terms of how much for Army, Navy and Air Force, but in terms of military functions.

Now it so happens that Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy's annual top-secret conference of 150 service secretaries, assistant secretaries, deputies, field commanders and Pentagon admirals and generals was held at Quantico Marine Base the last weekend in June.

IT WAS JUST THE PLACE where problems such as General Taylor has posed should have been dealt with. But the probabilities are that they will not be solved there.

The defense budgets for next year are now practically set. Congress has been convinced that the four insufficiencies which Army, Navy, Marines and

Air Force complain of separately add up to a national sufficient to meet any crisis for the next year, anyway.

So, like General Matthew B. Ridgway who preceded him, Taylor leaves his position as army chief of staff with some feeling that his mission has not been fully accomplished.

A man can butt his head against a stone wall just so long. Then he bows out, as gracefully as he can.

Today in National Affairs

President Believed Hoping For Nomination of Nixon

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower may want to see Vice-President Nixon nominated to succeed him, but he will never say so.

Careful reading of the President's remarks at his Wednesday press conference reveals that he did not really take a neutral stand, as has been widely reported. He did refuse to be put in the position of dictating to the Republican National Convention as to the "procedures," but this is in keeping with his concept that Presidents must not attempt to control a national convention. Mr. Eisenhower's exact words were as follows:

"Well, I think it would be too much to think that a man's sentiments and ideas were completely neutral. I have said time and again that the Republican party, in my opinion, has brought forward a group of able, capable men of vigorous years and that any could be selected with honor to himself and to the party."

"But I certainly shall never, so far as I am able, indicate publicly, to anyone, or privately, the details of the procedures, well, that will bring about some nominee, because I don't think it is correct or right."

Mr. Eisenhower is following tradition. No President likes to be accused of dictating the choice of his successor, though President Theodore Roosevelt did it in 1908, and the accusation was widely proclaimed that William Howard Taft was a hand-picked nominee and that the convention itself was a "steamroller" affair. Nowadays, especially since presidential preference primaries have been introduced in several states, each national convention likes to feel that it is free and unbiased. Mr. Eisenhower's remarks will help to give the impression that the 1960 Republican convention is to be of that kind.

For Administration Man But when the President said that "it would be too much to think that a man's sentiments and ideas were completely neutral," he was doubtless thinking in a very natural, human way about the policies of his own administration. Could he favor a candidate who has only a lukewarm feeling about the policies of the Eisenhower regime? Wouldn't he naturally feel closer to the candidate who has been and is willing to go down the line in 100 per cent, or almost that high a percentage, approval of what the Republican administration has accomplished in eight years?

In the campaign last year for the governorship of New York State, Nelson Rockefeller was advised by some of his supporters to avoid endorsement of the national administration or any campaigning on its record. At that time such a course was deemed politically wise. Since the 1958 elections, however, there is believed to have been a change in public opinion and the national administration undoubtedly has gained in popularity.

Must Run on Record

Certainly anybody who expects to get the Republican Presidential nomination in 1960 cannot afford to be lukewarm now about the Eisenhower administration's record. He must either be strongly for it or risk defeat.

Gov. Rockefeller has not yet announced whether he will be a candidate for the Presidential nomination, but a race between Vice-President Nixon and the New York Governor might actually benefit the party at the polls. For it would be a wide-open contest, without Presidential dictation, and if Mr. Nixon were finally chosen, he would benefit immeasurably from the support that probably would be given him by Gov. Rockefeller in the election campaign. Also, whatever Mr. Rockefeller did to help the ticket would build up his own standing with the rank and file of the party for the future.

Thus, if Mr. Nixon lost in 1960, Mr. Rockefeller could expect in the 1964 contest support from the Nixon people.

Close Friend of Both Mr. Eisenhower is, of course, a close friend of both Mr. Nixon and Mr. Rockefeller. But while he cannot say so, it is natural for the President to want to see the Vice-President chosen as the next nominee, because the selection would be widely regarded as an endorsement of his own administration, while the choice of some one else not closely identified with the Eisenhower policies would be interpreted by some of the conservative voters, at least, as a departure from the President's banner.

For many reasons, therefore, it is important for the President to avoid taking any action publicly or privately calculated to swing the national convention toward any particular candidate.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The dismalness of humor is so firm that I shudder violently whenever I chance upon a compilation. This is a matter of regret to a devotee of, say, Finley Peter Dunne or Robert Benchley, for these and other friends who brightened little corners are personally precious in memory. Yet, it is not that they have failed. Humor itself proves fraudulent and silly.

A New Yorker book reviewer with an unbecoming hatred of Irvin S. Cobb went to unnecessary lengths to hurt him when Cobb published his farewell under the poignant title of "Exit Laughing." It was not a funny book and its awkwardness called attention to the fact that Cobb never had been a very good humorist although he was not much inferior to George Ade, whose Fables in Slang are remembered by persons who never read them as great examples of this sort of thing.

Cobb had written "Speaking of Operations" in which he said, for the most part, that he had had no more privacy than a goldfish. Thereafter he had operated principally as a professional humorist at banquets.

In one of these efforts, with President Coolidge as the guest of honor, Cobb closed his performance with an anecdote about a little girl who had eaten too much ice cream and had been sick. It was an astonishing error by a man of acknowledged taste although the cultural tone of current nightclub comedy would exclude it only for a Victorian quality.

I sample Ade's "Fable of the Spotted" as follows: "Once a Traveller arrived at a Cure where the water of the Healing Spring Smelled So Awful that the Management felt justified in asking $10 a day. This Traveller was a City Yap, which is worse than being a Beggar, because the RFD Boob usually knows that he is being paraded. The City Yap is a voracious creature with Shiny Hair living under the Dominion of Traffic Cops."

It does not improve. "And lookie," says one character, "there is Mrs. Beverly Margrave, often called the Uncrowned Empress of the American Hotel Mond. She was a Terwilliger from Baltimore. I know people who would give their eye-teeth just to have her insult them."

It may be thought to be dirty pool to cite Josh Billings in this, for his reliance on quaint spelling has long since been ruled out as unethical and futile. Nevertheless, he plods along, 75 years after his death, on the strength of such as this: "God bless the pioneers—the whole of them—including the man who fust rode a mule. His name was Stuck-fass; he will be remembered as long as black wax will be, his posterity have all been good sticklers, sum of the best clothes."

Workman Burned Fatally in Blast At Junk Yard

GENEVA, N. Y. (AP)—A workman was burned fatally Thursday in an explosion in a junk yard in nearby Border City.

The dead man was Ernest Lee Brooks, 28, of Geneva.

Three other men were burned, two critically, when the explosion flashed through an 8-foot pit beneath a metal baling press they were cleaning.

Injured were Mort Port, 18, James Reid, 21, and Sidney Yancey, 22, all of Geneva.

Port is a Geneva High School senior and son of the junk yard owner, Louis Port. He was taken to Strong Memorial Hospital in Rochester where his condition was listed as critical.

Reid was reported in critical condition at Geneva General Hospital and Yancey was in fair condition there. The latter was not in the pit when the explosion occurred.

The cause was not immediately determined, but Seneca County sheriff's deputies said it was believed that a spark ignited gasoline which the men were using to clean the grease-encrusted pit walls.

Port Ewen Corps Chosen to Meet With Champions

Colonial Cavaliers of Port Ewen have been chosen to participate in the Parade of Champions at the P. T. Barnum Festival at Bridgeport Saturday night.

The Cavaliers will compete with four crack corps of Eastern United States.

The festival committee picked the Port Ewen corps to replace the Syracuse Brigades, state champions who are unable to participate.

They will compete with Hawthorne (N. J.) Cavaliers, current national champions; Archer-Epler Musketeers of Upper Darby, Pa. Princemen of Malden, Mass., current VFW national champions, and the Appleknockers of Geneva, former champions.

This is considered one of the most important drum corps competitions in the east. Corps may enter by invitation only.

The senior corps and the Colonial Cadets will be marching in the festival parade which annually draws over a quarter of a million spectators.

The two Port Ewen corps are leaving for Bridgeport by bus early Saturday morning.

The Cavaliers are sponsoring the annual Pageant of Champions, marching - maneuvering drum and bugle contest at Dietz Stadium, Saturday, July 11 at 8 p. m.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The spotlight on steel is keeping much of the rest of this year's labor-management bargaining in comparative shadow.

But some important contracts already have been made—averaging under 10 cents an hour in wage and fringe benefits but running as high as 14 cents on average in the building trades.

New Pacts Coming Up

Coming up for negotiations are new contracts in copper, aluminum, rubber and meat packing. A number of unions apparently are waiting to see what the steelworkers settle for before making their own demands public. About one million workers are getting pay hikes automatically due to contracts previously negotiated.

The importance of steel as a pattern-setter is stressed in the July letter of the First National City Bank of New York, which holds that "if wage-price spiraling is to be arrested, a major industry must set the example."

While many corporation presidents are stressing stiff resistance to increasing operation costs, most who are polled feel that labor costs in general will rise about four per cent this year.

This eventually will be spelled out in consumer terms by an average price rise of two per cent, top management estimates.

Pressure From Capital
Pressure from Washington concentrates largely on making the big issue—in the eye of the public—inflation. The administration warns that wages and prices keep chasing each other—a rise in either one leading to a compensating rise in the other—with no end in sight.

Tied in with this has been the pressure for more mechanization—seeking to cut labor costs by turning more of the work over to machines.

To see what presidents of leading corporations think will come out of all of the bargaining and all the threats, the business management magazine, Dun's Review & Modern Industry, polled 125—seven out of 10 of them heading an automobile driven by his companies listed among the 500 largest industrial firms in the United States.

Four in 10 rate the top men in the union they deal with as excellent or good. And many of the others join in expressing respect for the union chief's capability, realism, toughness, honesty, maturity, conscientiousness or understanding of business.

Third in Doubt
But about a third doubt that union leadership is improving—in the sense that management uses the word. They cite cases of what they call growing union arrogance, corruption and strong-arm tactics.

The survey shows the prexies increasingly resisting demands for more fringe benefits, but more than half of the presidents expect this year's contracts to show fringe increases of from one to three cents an hour.

Mothers Oppose Park As Traffic Hazard

IRONDEQUOIT, N. Y. (AP) — Bulldozers, capable of moving mountains, didn't budget 25 mothers an inch Thursday.

The irate mothers staged a sit-down strike around two earth-movers in protest of the construction of a playground near their homes in this Rochester suburb. The mothers said they were opposed to the amount of new traffic the park would attract and said they didn't want dusty flying around when work was started.

After a fruitless morning, the drivers were sent home and the problem referred to the board of supervisors.

The park, which was to include tennis courts, baseball diamonds, swings, slides and other recreational facilities, was to be located on a 10-acre site. The job was estimated at $500.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The New York Central Railroad had federal permission today to abandon 72 miles of secondary track in central and western New York State.

A CROWDED WEDDING RECEPTION

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter is to be married soon. There will be about eighty guests invited to the reception which we would like to have at home. We could accommodate about forty people quite comfortably, but more than this would be impossible at one time. I was wondering if the guests could be split into two groups. In other words, have the hours one to three put on some invitations and three to five put on others. Will you please give your opinion?

Answer: I don't see how you can divide the group in two because the guests in the first group are not likely to leave until the bride and groom leave. The only thing to do is to remove as much of the furniture as possible and invite them all for the same time. Those who find it too crowded will probably leave soon after greeting the bride and groom—thus making room for others.

Wedding Announcements

Dear Mrs. Post: My fiancé and I are having a disagreement about the following: We are to be married in about a month and we are going to have a small wedding with just the immediate families in attendance. I feel that because we are having a small wedding we should send out announcements of our marriage to friends and relatives who will not be at the wedding. My fiancé feels that we should not because it will seem as if we are asking for wedding gifts. We would appreciate your advice on this matter.

Answer: Your fiancé is mistaken. A wedding announcement requires no gift or acknowledgment and is sent to all your friends and relatives who are not invited to the wedding.

Watermelon at the Table

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me the proper way to eat watermelon when served at table?

Answer: Watermelon is cut into large size pieces and usually eaten with a knife and fork. Or if with fork alone, then cut it piece by piece with the side of fork, remove seeds with times, and eat it.

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have her leaflet E-19, entitled "Mistakes Made in the Name of Etiquette," send 10 cents in coin to Dept. E. P. in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—While many other shows on television will be awash with the spirit of patriotism, the Perry Presents show will really do something different Saturday night.

While others honor the nation's birthday, the NBC show will pay musical tribute to the birthdays of P.T. Barnum and Adm. Farragut and the anniversaries of the invention of the shoe - making machine and the founding of Paris, France.

Sunday Promising

Sunday promises some interesting viewing for those who prefer television to bumper-to-bumper driving: Johns Hopkins File on ABC will take a look at Copernicus, father of modern astronomy, immediately followed on the same network by College News Conference interviewing Dr. James B. Conant, former president of Harvard.

Autoists stalled in homecoming holiday traffic might enjoy Sunday's suspense story on CBS radio. This one, called "Blood Is Thicker," is concerned with the transatlantic yacht race. It was written by Sam Pierce, who at the time of the broadcast will be a member of the crew of a yacht actually in the race.

On Monday, NBC will do a special news program on Queen Elizabeth's Chicago visit. The Joseph Cotten Show, a clutch of reruns with a new host—takes over the Ann Sothern spot that evening.

All-Star Tilt Tuesday

The All-Star baseball game from Pittsburgh will be both televised and broadcast by radio Tuesday on NBC. The one real premiere of the week is the Andy Williams Show, summer replacement for Garry Moore, on CBS.

Dave King, on Wednesday night, will do a spoof of Charles Laughlin.

Thursday's Playhouse 90 on CBS is a repeat of "Seven Against the Wall"—all about Chicago gang warfare. On Friday there will be a new episode (not a repeat) of "Rawhide" (CBS).

60 Webelos, Dads Spend Weekend At Scout Camp

Over 60 Cub Scout Webelos and their dads completed a weekend of fun, frolic and adventure at Camp Tri-Mount in East Jewett.

When the Cubs and their dads checked in about one Saturday afternoon, they were assigned either to the Mohawk Campsite under the direction of the camp provisional assistant scoutmaster, Daniel Devine or to the Seneca Campsite under the direction of assistant waterfront director, Richard Phillips.

After checking in, the Cubs and their dads were divided into groups and rotated from one camp area to another. At the axe yard they were shown the fundamental principle of safe axe handling by assistant activities director, Kenneth Mance.

The knot yard in charge of assistant activities director Carl Pihala proved to be a contest to see whether the dads or the Cubs could tie knots faster. New question games and exhibits were demonstrated at the Nature Lodge by Nature Director Joseph Mumpower and Assistant Nature Director Daniel Davidson.

Robert Barnett, assistant activities director, taught the use of the mosquito net. Both Cubs and dads were allowed to shoot the guns. Basic instruction in archery was given by Activities Director Bruce Noel. Various tents, fires and camping techniques were demonstrated by Assistant Activities Director George Bond.

Following the demonstrations the members of the 12 packs were shown the camp store in charge of Edward Seeley and then headed for the waterfront at Kay-Bee Lake. Waterfront director, Frank Kidney, demonstrated the buddy system and safety in rowboat handling before all had a refreshing general swim. Just before supper everyone attended retreat services.

In the evening a battle on the softball diamond was fought between the dads and their Cub sons. For the first time in many years the dads came out of the game victorious with a close decision of 12 to 11. At dusk an Indian dressed in a tribal costume appeared with a flaming torch and ignited the opening 1959 campfire. Pack 26 presented a humorous skit. At the closing ceremony, Packs 32, 130 and 138 from Saugerties gave the Webelos ceremony of friendship. After the campfire, the dads had an opportunity to sit around a cracker barrel.

Camp Director Nelson Carter briefly told the history of Camp Tri-Mount. In his discussion of the future needs of the camp, Carter mentioned the need for a new dining hall. Olaf Andreassen from Saugerties led a group of volunteer workers in the complete re-vamping of the camp electrical system. The group worked from early morning Saturday to late in the evening and are planning to return next Saturday to complete the project.

As the Cubs and their dads were checking out, the first contingent of Boy Scout campers were moving in. According to Council President Elwood Hitchcock, this should be a banner year of camping at Camp Tri-Mount.

MRS. CAROLYN WALIGURSKI of Hurley, composer of the musical story "Hurley Folk Cantata" will conduct the work in its premiere performance on Saturday at 7 p. m. on the approximate site of the first Hurley settlement in 1661. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Morehouse of Lake Katrine, Mrs. Waligurski is a cum laude graduate of New Paltz State Teachers College, class of 1946. She has studied voice with Leonard Stine and Miss Fern Mathes at Potsdam. The cantata contains 25 folk songs and will also include narration and dramatization of the history of Hurley. It will be presented in a 90-minute uninterrupted program.

Work at the AHRC Center during the summer will be focused on the day camp opening in conjunction with Camp Jay.

Woman Convicted In Slaying of Her Love Rival

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Unless higher courts or the governor intervene, Edythe Margaret Klumpp, 41, must die in Ohio's electric chair for the slaying of Louise Bergen.

Mrs. Klumpp stared stony-faced as the jury of six men and six women filed in Thursday night. She never changed expression as, four minutes later, the clerk read the verdict of guilty of first-degree murder.

When the 3½-week trial was adjourned, Mrs. Klumpp told Bailiff William Wiggeringloh, "Let's get out of here." She was hustled off to her cell.

Mrs. Klumpp, twice divorced and mother of four, was convicted of shooting and beating Mrs. Bergen, 32, to death last Oct. 30. She and Mrs. Bergen's estranged husband William, 30, had been living together for several months. Mrs. Klumpp admitted burning Mrs. Bergen's body at Lake Cowan the following day.

The state claimed Mrs. Klumpp feared Bergen intended to return to his wife and that Mrs. Klumpp needed his financial aid to get a loan on her home to prevent it from being sold at public auction.

Mrs. Klumpp contended the shooting in her car on a secluded park street was accidental. She testified Mrs. Bergen was pointing the gun at her and that it discharged as they fought for it.

Hasbrouck House, Historic Dwelling, Opens on July 4

The Colonel Josiah Hasbrouck House, on Route 32, four miles south of New Paltz on the Modena-New Paltz road, will open on July 4 for its fifth season. This is the first year that the house will be opened to the public as a museum under the ownership of the Huguenot Historical Society. The house was a gift to the Society in 1958 by Miss Annette I. Young. The property had never been out of the family ownership until last year.

Still under the patronage of Miss Young, the house offers a number of new attractions to visitors. The whole house is now open to the public and each room is furnished in period with items that were owned by the Hasbrouck-Young-Inn family.

The hostess this year is Mrs. Patricia McNiven who resides at the house.

Guests are welcome to use the genealogical resources and upon request, Kenneth E. Hasbrouck will be available to aid people who are searching records.

300 Registered For Elementary Summer Classes

Approximately 300 children are registered for the second year of elementary summer school in the Kingston School District (Consolidated), it was reported today by Principal William R. Reardon of Schools 6 and 8.

Reardon and Principals A. J. Boyd of George Washington School and Edward R. Crosby of Lake Katrine School will assist Franklin Hazard, assistant superintendent of schools, in operation of the summer school program on the elementary level.

There will be three classes in the Port Ewen School attendance area.

Children in these classes are asked to report to the Port Ewen School at 9 a. m. Monday, July 6.

High registration in that area warrants holding the classes in the Port Ewen School, Reardon explained.

Kingston city children and those from other districts will report to the George Washington School auditorium at 9 a. m. Monday.

The summer school classes will be in session from 9 to 11 a. m. daily Monday through Friday from July 6 to 31. A tuition fee will be charged.

Members of the local teaching faculty will serve on the summer school staff as follows:

Port Ewen School—Mrs. Martha Lucette, Miss Marie Sasso and Mrs. Corinne Fineststein. George Washington School—Miss Lena Elmendorf, Mrs. Marie Amendola, Miss Ethel Schaefer, Mrs. Hilda Sherlock, Mrs. Harriet Jones, Miss Patricia Perry, Mrs. Ray Miles, Mrs. Minna Walker, Mrs. Maude Bunting and Mrs. Mary Danford.

Hurley Schedules Hearing July 7 On Street Change

There will be a public meeting at the Old Hurley firehouse at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, July 7, to consider proposed changes in the names of certain streets in Old Hurley.

The purpose of the meeting is to discuss suggestions for suitable names that will eliminate duplication.

Councilman Roger Loughran of the Town of Hurley will preside.

One of the major factors bringing the matter to a head is the difficulty experienced at times by the fire department in locating the scene of a fire.

BALTIMORE (AP) -- The penniless young woman had fled her husband down South and stopped at the Traveler's Aid Society on her way to New York to live with relatives. In Mrs. Elizabeth Kraiwe's office, she saw a painting of New York on the wall. As she stared at the icy blue pigment, the lonely looking bridge and skyscrapers, tears formed in her eyes. "I can handle my husband but not that big, cold city," she said and headed back home.

"I guess it's a stalemate. Richard won't call me, and his family has an unlisted phone!"

By SOPHIE MILLER

Received a long letter from David Goodyear of the Railway Historical Museum of High Falls. He wrote he liked Frank Tripp's nostalgic article, "About A Train Ride" in the May 18 issue. He says he is of one mind with Mr. Tripp about the dislization power taken over the railroads. He mentions the beloved old Ulster and Delaware; the New York, Ontario and Western which he calls "Old and Western" and the West Shore which has been so popular.

He misses the old steam locomotives, the old Iron Horse of the Civil War days. His museum is dedicated to the preservation of the memory of the old steam locomotives. It seems he has many photographs and some actual relics of those steam Iron Horses and always glad to meet those who are interested in the same subject. Even the stamp on his envelope covers railroading, "Honoring Railroad Engineers of America," showing the old and the new trains.

He is the proprietor of Poor Man's Paradise, (across the street from the big ferry shed) brought me a scrap book of illustrated news of 1914 era. Those were the days before TV when many stores displayed in their windows these large pictures of current news. I think they were changed daily or weekly. We had them in our store too. One picture among the sport group is of Connie Mack's White Elephants, the winners of the American League and World champs of 1911, 12 and 13. One picture dated Jan. 12, 1914, was of a freighter, Oklahoma, which broke in half during a heavy storm off Sandy Hook when 32 drowned. Another picture dated July 3, 1914 showed couples in old fashioned bathing suits doing the tango. There are many pictures covering a variety of subjects.

Going back to Dec. 12, 1888 of our Kingston Argus, I see they were asking for sealed bids to heat the court house, the entire first and second floors and the Grand Jury Room, and the entire three floors of the jail. They said "radiators will be required in the Court Chambers, two living rooms, sheriff's office, jailer's office on the first floor and office clerk, of the supervisors and Petit Juror's room and two small rooms on the third floor of the jail." They felt the other rooms could be heated with coil or radiators as parties may select. The material was to be first class, the work done in the best possible manner and the apparatus to be sufficient to warm the rooms to 70 degrees of heat in any part of the building when it would be 10 degrees below zero, outside. No doubt they used large, substantial radiators in those days. I wonder if any of that equipment is still in the building.

In those days you could get fresh made candies daily at Swart's, corner Wall and John Streets.

Here are some of the items from the city paragraphs of 1888. "The services at Gettysburg, dedicating the monument erected in honor of the old Twentieth Regiment of Ulster County, last October, will be filled soon by pamphlet [.....] Philip H. Fielding, superintendent of the Kingston and Rondout Electric Light Co., has tendered his resignation, to take effect Dec. 15. He has accepted a similar position with the Kingston Electric Light, Heat and Power Co."

In the 1911 Kingston Directory there is a Kingston Gas and Electric Co. at 611 Broadway, who furnished cooking fuel, wired buildings, and supplied gas or electric fixtures at reasonable prices, so their advertisement reads.

In 1768, Richard Henry Lee suggested the organization of committees of correspondence between the different colonies. This prepared the way for the first Continental Congress in 1774, of which Lee became a member. He introduced, in 1776, the celebrated motion in the Congress at Philadelphia that "these United Colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent states absolved from all allegiance to the British crown."

Finish Off Attic, Add Living Space

Acquiring extra sleeping rooms by finishing off an attic is an economical way in which to add needed living space to a small house. Usually these attic rooms have slant ceilings; but you can do much to influence their appearance by the way in which you decorate.

If the ceiling seems to hug the floor, run the wall color up over the slant surface and paint the ceiling white. Or if the room seems too small, you can better its proportions by running the ceiling tint down over the slant portions.

If the room seems too large, treat the perpendicular walls in a strong, warm color. If you wish to minimize the slant, paint side walls, slant portion and ceiling alike.

The 'Pinecrest'... Sound Design in a Modified Ranch

Rooms ..... Six
Bedrooms ..... Three
Closets ..... Seven
Cubage ..... 28,000
Dimensions ..... 62' x 36' x 6'

"Handsome is as handsome does" is a good axiom to apply to houses. For while good looks are important, a home must be soundly designed for carefree maintenance and livability.

The "Pinecrest," this week's selection of the Home of the Week Plan Service is a fine combination of attractiveness and good, basic design in a modified ranch.

By using materials boldly and well, the "Pinecrest" catches the eye and holds it. Natural wood in unusual matching pattern, wood siding and a brick facing are all used to advantage in the projection.

Use of Brick

Pressed brick are used on the right side of the house in front, giving that substantial look this building material conveys.

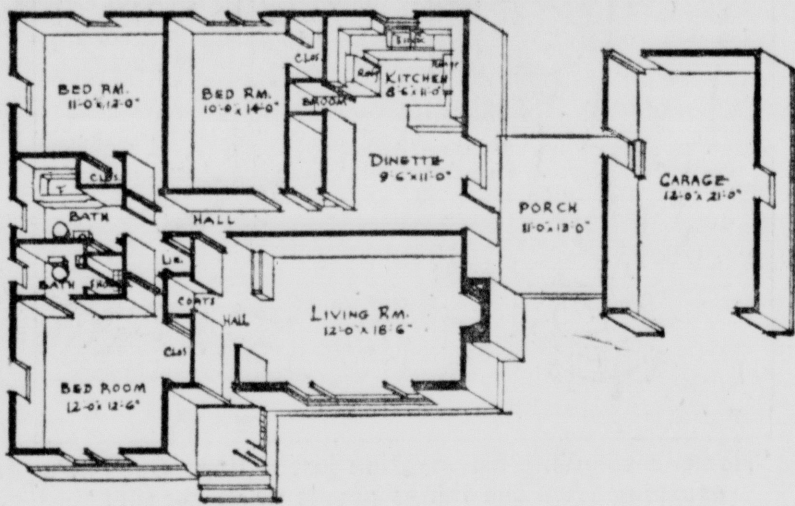

With both the porch and garage set back a different number of feet, an illusion of greater size is created. The porch or breezeway is a generous one, with plenty of room for full scale activities in warm weather.

An outside chimney allows added space in the living room, yet the fireplace is large and attractive.

Traffic Flow

In making excellent use of every foot of space, the designers provide for an admirable flow of traffic. One can enter the front door and go to any room without passing through any other room.

As a result, each room can live up to the real purpose for which it was designed. The living room is truly the social center, and a pleasant place to spend leisure hours. The fireplace is cheerful on cool days, and there's always something of interest to see from the picture window.

Much care has been taken to provide attractive, well-aided sleeping quarters. Both corner bedrooms have windows at right angles with resulting good light and ventilation. The third bedroom has a fine double window for the same reason. All sleeping rooms have large closets.

Two Bathrooms
A back-to-back arrangement of the two bathrooms is a fine economy move, not only for installation but for maintenance as well. Occupants of the front room can enjoy the fine shower stall provided in the adjoining bathroom. There's a built-in tub in the other bathroom.

Following up the good design manifest so far is a carefully laid out kitchen-dinette area. For a kitchen of its size, this one has excellent cabinet and shelf space. With the added convenience of a serving counter, meals can be whisked to the table with a minimum of effort.

Garage Door

A thoughtful feature of the garage is the door cut in the rear. Not only is this handy for storage purposes, but it provides an exit to the rear yard for use if the owner wants to glass in or screen in the breezeway.

The plan of the "Pinecrest" is acceptable to both VA and FHA.

Color Accents

Varicolored soft pillows are in style again. A living room seen recently painted in pale colonial yellow had window-hangings and slipcovers in multi-colored chintz. Plain colored pillows picked up the various colors used in the curtains.

FLAVORED—Dr. Albert B. Sabin of the University of Cincinnati examines a vial which is used for his live-virus polio vaccine, one of several recently developed. Sabin's serum can be flavored and taken by mouth. It was used to immunize 300 Russian children against the disease.

Stability Important In Building Home

If you are contemplating buying or building a home, one important consideration is stability. That is, the physical stability of the structure because, nowadays it is increasingly costly to be making repairs and doing upkeep jobs that might have been avoided in the first place.

One good product, as everyone knows, is Portland cement. Made into bricks, blocks, poured in forms or dumped out flat for sidewalk or path, the sand, gravel and cement create an everlasting stability.

No longer is concrete, as such, stark grey; and no longer are the cement blocks static in dimension. Almost any shape and color may be had. When used on some interior walls, there is a choice of masonry patterns that blend well with wood paneling and fabrics.

Veneers Provide Interesting Surfaces

Wood sliced into veneers gives unusually interesting surfaces, whether mahogany, oak, plain birch, walnut or cherry. For the homebody who likes to make things like tables, cabinets or any piece of furniture, let alone some nice paneling, there are available sheets of veneer in these several woods which are easy to handle, cut and apply.

The wood itself is coated with a clear vinyl film. On the back is a sheet of aluminum foil to which is pre-applied an adhesive. The laminated sheets, cut with shears, are flexible enough to wrap around easy curves.

Bird Houses Easy to Build

Boys and hand tools, in your workshop, regardless of what kind of tools, add up to lasting interest in the future. Two projects come to mind which might be of use. One is a bird house that can be built ahead of time, using only a saw, hammer and some sandpaper. It should be finished neat and smooth, but from the birds' standpoint, it would be better if left unpainted. Another item is a small footstool, strong enough to sit on, and useful for shining shoes or just to put your feet upon and relax.

Wood Provides Insulation

Wood is one of the few building materials which is suitable for both the exterior and interior of houses. One reason is that it is a low conductor of heat and becomes neither too cold in winter nor too warm in summer. Its insulating properties make it superior for windows facing both interior and exterior which may differ in temperature by 70 or 80 degrees.

Charcoal Industry

The backyard cook is helping to give a shot in the arm to one of the nation's oldest industries—production of charcoal. Growing popularity of outdoor terraces has helped boost charcoal consumption to post-war highs. Consumption in 1956 was 265,000 tons in the U. S. and nearly half went for outdoor cookery.

Boards and Battens

The same pattern of boards-and-battens that's used for exterior siding, also can be applied to the fence. In such instances, the house and landscape are more closely wedded, while the sharp vertical lines of the boards-and-battens alleviate the typical lowness of the contemporary home.

Factory-Built Cabinets

Factory-engineered wood cabinets, rather than the kind built on the job, are particularly desirable for kitchen remodeling because they can be installed quickly with a minimum of interference with household routine.

For Scouring

Stubborn spots from an outdoor barbecue are hard to miss. An ordinary household abrasive powder will remove them from stainless dishes. For scouring stainless use a stainless steel wool.

*O beautiful for spacious skies,
For amber waves of grain,
For purple mountain majesties

From millions of voices raised in song have come these haunting words. The sweet song, "America, the Beautiful," spins into music our homeland --- the farms, the mountains, the prairies that stretch from the rugged coast of Maine to the warm sands of California.

It will be difficult for us to enlarge that image to include the new dimensions to which we have grown. But we must try. On this July 4, "America, the Beautiful" passes a milestone in extending its limits to encompass regions which could never have appeared in the wildest imaginings of the founding fathers.

As they put pen to the Declaration of Independence 183 years ago in Philadelphia on July 4, 1776, they had only vague hearsay about the lands west of the Mississippi. It took the Lewis and Clark expedition, dispatched by Thomas Jefferson years later, to get the first solid facts about this part of the continent.

Alaska and Hawaii?

They were as remote as are the moon and Mars during our modern period of reaching out into space.

Now, however, these new landscapes are becoming a part of America the Beautiful, as symbolized in the new flag and illustration above. We may now sing of the rolling surf that bathes the sands at Waikiki and the stately forests of the northland under whose shadows lie untold ---and as yet untapped---stores of Nature's treasures.

Our land now stretches from the very top of the world to half-way across the Pacific.

We welcome Alaska and Hawaii on this traditional patriotic holiday. May these other words of "America, the Beautiful" continue:

*America! America!
God shed His grace on thee,
And crown thy good with brotherhood
From sea to shining sea.*

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

The Faith Americans Live By

In the remote areas of the Ozark mountains, the natural intelligence of many youths would have been lost had not a Presbyterian missionary, with the aid of other churchmen, founded the School of the Ozarks at Point Lookout, Mo., in 1907. Without state or county aid, it grew from one building to 90, through mailed gifts and the faith of leaders who guided it through a threatened foreclosure, destruction by fire and other trials. It has been called "the school that lives on faith."

Students are not admitted if they can afford tuition elsewhere. Those with the highest intelligence, those from the most remote regions, are selected to attend the high school and junior college.

"We believe if we work for what we get, the Lord will take care of the details," says R. M. Good, the school's president emeritus.

Breakfast begins with a religious lesson. Students cook, serve, work in the laundry, weaving room, cannery, power plant. They man their fire department and tend a world famous dairy herd. They have helped in the construction of all buildings. They made the furniture for the new chapel and worked in the school quarry. The first graduate is today a judge. Instead of youth being lost in the hills, leaders have emerged who have taken prominent places in America or returned to better their communities. The faith of the founders has been rewarded.

Gas Rates Going Up In Elmira Section

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The New York State Electric & Gas Corp. will raise gas rates for 97,400 customers in its Elmira district by an average of 12.2 per cent on Monday.

The Public Service Commission, which gave permission Thursday for the increase, said the higher rates would boost company revenues by $81,900 a year. The utility sought $619,300 additional revenue.

The minimum monthly charge will be $1.25 a month under the new rates. That charge has been $1.05.

The PSC said nearly half the total increase could have been made without state permission because the utility is permitted to adjust rates according to the wholesale price it pays for natural gas.

The wholesale price was increased recently. The utility was allowed the rest of the rate boost to meet higher operating costs, the PSC said.

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—After thinking it over, Mrs. Bertene M. Moura, 43, surrendered to police Thursday and admitted forging $7,650 in teachers' payroll checks during the last two years.

Mrs. Moura, payroll clerk for the Oakland Unified School District, was booked on six counts of forgery.

Award $9,000 Scholarships To Ira Deutsch of Ontario

Scholarships totalling $9,000 have been awarded Ira Deutsch, gifted young oboe soloist with the Ontario Central High school band, it has been announced.

Deutsch has been awarded the $4,000 Competitive Woodwind Scholarship by the School of Fine and Applied Arts of Boston University and a $5,000 scholarship from the New England Conservatory of Music. The scholarship total is believed the highest received by any area high school student in several years. Deutsch is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Deutsch of Woodstock.

Deutsch was awarded an A6 rating as oboe soloist in the New York State Music Competition held at Port Chester on May 22. Grade 6 is the most difficult music that a soloist may perform in and "A" is the highest possible score. Walter Ebersole, adjudicator from Bellport, L. I., said that Deutsch's musical performance was very refined, with tone and technique being the outstanding strong points. This marked the second consecutive year that Ira received an A rating.

Soloist at Aspen
In the past, Deutsch has been soloist with the Aspen School orchestra in the Aspen Music Festival of 1958 in Aspen, Colorado. In January of 1959, he was selected after a competitive audition to play solo oboe with the New York All State High school orchestra, under the direction of

IRA DEUTSCH

Dr. Frederick Fennell of the Eastman School of Music at Rochester, N. Y.

He is presently studying with Albert Goltz, first oboist with the New York Philharmonic. Last year he was presented with the John Philip Sousa Band Award for being the most outstanding musician in the Ontario High school band.

Drucker-Rostal-Sass Trio Open Maverick Sunday Season

MAVERICK ENSEMBLE—Members of the trio which opens the Maverick Sunday concert series at Maverick hall this weekend are, from the left: Leo Rostal, cello; Ise Sass, pianist; Ernest Drucker, violin.

The Drucker-Rostal-Sass Trio, a violin-piano-cello ensemble, will perform in the first concert of the 1959 Maverick Sunday Afternoon Concert Season Sunday, July 5, at the Maverick concert hall in Woodstock.

The noted instrumentalists making up the trio have won popular acclaim in New York City as an ensemble, and individually in recitals and chamber music concerts throughout the country and abroad. They have made many appearances in Woodstock.

Ernest Drucker studied first violin in his native city of Cologne. He has been a member of the Busch Quartet and other groups and orchestras in Germany and America. Leo Rostal was first cellist under Arturo Toscanini's N.B.C. Symphony Orchestra, later called the Symphony of the Air.

A Talented Pianist
Ise Sass, pianist, graduated with high honors from the Conservatory of Music in Cologne. Renowned as a soloist, for her work with chamber music groups, and as a voice coach, she has appeared in many concerts and recitals in Woodstock and area communities for more than a decade. Since 1951, she has performed every season in concerts at the Maverick.

The program for Sunday includes the following: Ich bin der Schneider Kagadu, Op. 121, by Beethoven; Trio Op. 35, prelude et fugue, theme et variations and sonata, by Joaquin Turina; and the Trio in C Major, Op. 87 (allegro, andante con moto, scherzo, finale (allegro giocoso), by Brahms.

On July 12 an unusual combination of performing artists will be featured in the second Sunday Concert, the world-famed "First Lady of the Harp," Mildred Dilling; Claude Monteux, flutist; and Walter Trampier, violinist.

Battle of Braves - Kingston and Beacon - Tonight at Stadium

Dutchess Nine Has '58 Batting Champ in Lineup

Matt Theiss, last year's New York-New Jersey Baseball League, will lead the Beacon Braves into Dietz Stadium at 8:30 tonight for a crucial loop contest against the first place (that's right) Kingston Braves.

Other tilts this weekend include Poughkeepsie at Saugerties and Nyack at Spring Valley Saturday afternoon and Kingston at Nyack Sunday afternoon.

The standings:

Team	Won	Lost
Kingston	2	0
Spring Valley	1	0
Nyack	1	1
Saugerties	1	1
Poughkeepsie	1	1
Beacon	1	1
Jersey City	1	2
Stewart Air Base	0	3

Theiss, who plays right field for Beacon, compiled a sparkling .444 mark for the visitors last year. He had 16 hits in 36 trips to the dish. Included were four doubles, a triple and three home runs. A tall, rangy player, he is a dangerous power hitter.

The Beacon nine led the league in hitting last season with a sparkling .305 average. Center-fielder Jack Lashlee batted .311 and Gordon Schetter had a .303 mark.

Have Class Pitcher

The club has improved tremendously in the pitching department with the addition of Jimmy Hubble. He hurled in the Class B Carolina League for a couple of seasons and pitched last year in the Interstate League. Hubble is also a good hitter. Don Pomarico is expected to see the slab tonight at a 2-4 record and a .398 earned run average in the NY-NJ circuit in 1958, backs up Hubble.

Kingston expects to have the same club that has opened the season with victories over Jersey City and Poughkeepsie. Bob Maines, the local southpaw with the variety of pitches, is expected to see the slab tonight at the stadium. He has hurled well in both his starting assignments and was especially effective against a hard hitting Poughkeepsie team.

This promises to be one of the best Kingston teams since the New York-New Jersey League has been in existence. Bossman Fred Davi is optimistic that the Braves can win their first pennant. The chances will be evaluated much better after tonight's contest at the Stadium and Sunday's at Nyack.

Tired Old Ezzard in Ring Again

CINCINNATI (AP)—Old Ezzard Charles, a tired and somewhat meaty former heavyweight champion who says he still has the fire of a fighter in his heart, enters the ring again tonight — against a lumbering 225-pound policeman.

Charles, who as a challenger and as a champion participated in three of the largest money bouts in fight history, will meet Dave Ashley, who was a preliminary boy when Charles was starting on his way to fame, and now is a cop in suburban Lockland.

They will box 10 rounds or less in a high school gymnasium in Lincoln Heights, another suburb of Cincinnati. Charles, who earned $1,701.116 in three fights between 1950 and 1954, will get a few hundred bucks. Ashley will get a bit and what is left goes to the Lincoln Heights Recreation Commission.

Charles, now 37, says this will be the start of another comeback. He was heavyweight champion in 1950-51.

In his last fight, on Oct. 27, 1958, the former champion was knocked out in the sixth round by Don Fleeman in Dallas, Tex.

Ashley's last fight was on Sept. 1, 1958, when he scored a technical knockout in the seventh round over Claude Brown of Louisville, Ky.

Iroquois Shade Apaches, 3 to 2

Iroquois nipped the Apaches, 3-2, in a Metropolitan Knot Hole League contest, scoring the winning tally in the third inning, after both scored twice in the first inning.

David Blakeley and George Dougherty combined for a 5-hitter, while the winners picked up seven off the assorted deliveries of Robert Tubby, Russell Witkowski and Robert Playford.

Ed Bennett of the Iroquois led the hitters with a triple and double and Playford slammed three singles for the Apaches. Robert Murphy and George Dougherty collected a single and double each and Jess Myers had a two batter.

Cincinnati's injured Tigers have hobbled back into third place, just two games short of the American League lead. And Charlie Maxwell's bat has been their crutch.

At the moment the Tigers are without outfielders Al Kaline and Johnny Groth and infielders Frank Bolling and Ted Lepcio. Pitcher Jim Bunning hopes to come back today. Yet they've won three in a row and four of their last five — and Maxwell's been the big man in all four successes.

Thursday night he scored twice and beat the second-place Chicago White Sox 9-7 with his 18th homer — a grand-slam in the eighth inning.

That left first-place Cleveland with a one-game lead despite a 6-4 defeat at Kansas City. But Detroit closed in as Baltimore took fourth place by skidding New York from third to fifth, beating the Yankees 3-1.

Last-place Boston, with Manager Mike Higgins reported on the way out, lost its fifth in a row, 6-3 at Washington in 10 innings.

Don Mossi Chased

Maxwell's homer, off reliever Turk Lown, gave the Tigers a 9-2 lead that was just enough. The White Sox chased winner Don Mossi (7-3) in a five-run ninth triggered by Al Smith's grand-slam. Bob Shaw (6-3) lost it.

One of four Cleveland errors gave the A's the clincher in a two-run fifth when Bill Tuttle hit an RBI triple and scored himself on Jim Baxes' relay error. Ray Herbert (5-7) won it with Johnny Kucks' relief help. Gary Bell (6-8) was the loser.

The Orioles beat Don Larsen (6-3) for the first time in 12 decisions since September 5, 1955, although they managed only five hits. They scored all their runs on three hits in the first two innings. Bob Nieman followed Gene Woodling's two-out single with his ninth home run in the first, and winning pitcher Jerry Walker (6-3) drove in the other with a two-out bloop single in the second.

Jim Lemon doubled home the tying run in the eighth for Washington, then broke it up with a three-run homer in the 10th off reliever Leo Kieley (2-2).

Olmedo Wins the Big One

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—

Alex Olmedo, Peruvian star of the U.S. Davis Cup team, established himself as the world's No. 1 amateur tennis player today by smashing Australia's Rod Laver 6-4, 6-3, 6-4 for the Wimbledon smashing Australia's Rod Laver 6-4, 6-3, 6-4 for the Wimbledon championship.

Before a capacity crowd, including the Duchess of Kent and Princess Margaret, Olmedo's opening game and never trailed, although he suffered mild lapses during the swiftly paced match.

Thus the copper-skinned Latin crushed the little left-hander's hopes of becoming the first unseeded player in history to win this most prized of court crowns.

Olmedo was seeded No. 1. Laver, a red-haired giant killer, who knocked off America's Barry MacKay in the semifinals, was ignored by the ranking committee. Only three times has an unseeded player reached the men's final here — Wilmer Allison of America in 1930 and Kurt Nielsen of Denmark in 1953 and 1955 — but both failed to win the championship.

Olmedo almost single-handedly won the Davis Cup for the United States last December, despite a raging controversy over the use of a foreign player on the American squad.

Sharpshooter-Gay Yankee Duel Slated at Monticello

MONTICELLO—A duel between Arden Homestead's Sharpshooter and former ballplayer Charley Keller's Gay Yankee will highlight the holiday card at Monticello Raceway Saturday.

The featured event is the Monticello Trot, a $5,000 stake race, with a field of eight going to the post.

Sharpshooter is owned by the famous Goshen farm and will be driven by Harry Pownall. The shooter and Gay Yankee have both come up with impressive wins at Yonkers in the last ten days, but they won't be having their own way.

Have Outside Posts

Joe Eyer will move the Gay Yankee out of the fifth post, with Sharpshooter listed in the six spot.

They will be pushed by Les Pullen's Rodman and Stanley Dancer's Jessie Colby, driven by Harold Dancer, Sr. Inside post goes to Carmita Hanover, with Al Winger aboard Taylor's Song in the two position.

Rounding out the field are Darn Quick (Lloyd Cumming) in the 7 spot, and Cold Spring Netta (William Rossbach) from the outside.

The race is for non-winners of $25,000 in 1958, and may eclipse the 2,054 track mark for trotters now jointly held by four different horses. The track has been noted in fast condition the last few days by the horsemen at Monticello.

Carlene Hanover Sets Seasonal Record at Spa

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Carlene Hanover, speedy daughter of Star's Pride, is off to a promising harness racing career.

The young trotter sped over the half-mile track at Saratoga Raceway Thursday night in 2:09 1-5, a season's record for 2-year-old trotting fillies.

With Ralph Baldwin at the reins, she trimmed seven older rivals and paid $3.50. She is owned by the Hall Stables of Water town.

Mighty Macdee and Billy Springwood, 2-year-old geldings, captured the two divisions of the featured $3,000 Schuylerville Pace. Mighty Macdee clocked a 2:05 mile and paid $11.10. Billy Springwood scored in 2:08 1-5 at $4.70.

A disqualifying change of style by a trotter at Monticello Raceway dropped a rich daily double payoff into unexpected hands.

The trotter, Star's Pride, won the first race only to be placed last by the judges who ruled the horse had switched to a pacing stride during the race.

Tongore Park Launches 2nd Season, Adds 2 Lifeguards

Tongore Park, which was established last summer by the Town of Marlborough Recreation committee, under the direction of Morton E. Gazlay, director of recreation, and through the aid and cooperation of the town board and Supervisor Roy Webber, began its second year of operation the past week. This year there will be two lifeguards on duty during the hours the park is open.

Lifeguard protection and supervision will be from 10 a. m. when the park opens, until 8 p. m. which will be closing time. Two local boys will serve as lifeguards. They are Bruce Ruffner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Ruffner of High Falls, and Terry Confer of Kripplush, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Confer. Both boys are residents of the Town of Marlborough. Ruffner is a senior life save and Confer recently took his Red Cross life saving instruction at the Kingston YMCA and received the second highest mark in the class.

Returning again this year on July 6 for eight weeks is Miss Sandra Galate who taught swimming and also conducted classes in Arts and Crafts. Miss Galate was a very popular and important asset to last year's operation of the park and everyone connected with the project is happy to have her return again this year. Miss Galate will announce the times of her swimming classes so young people may enroll and receive instructions. There will be no charge for this instruction, it being a service of the Recreation Committee.

Six more picnic tables have been constructed and placed in the picnic area, bringing the number to an even dozen. Mr. and Mrs. John Davenport have donated a rowboat to the park for use of the lifeguards and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Judd

Satchmo Home, Says He Never Felt Better

NEW YORK (AP) — Louis (Satchmo) Armstrong, back home after a bout with pneumonia in Italy, says he "never felt better." The famed trumpeter arrived by plane Thursday night accompanied by his wife Lucille and personal physician, Dr. Alexander Schiff.

Satchmo said he might make an appearance Saturday at Lewisohn Stadium on his 59th birthday. He has been going to the stadium to make a birthday appearance in recent years. In his familiar, husky voice Armstrong told newsmen he was "stronger than ever." Asked if he felt he might have been dying during his recent illness in Spoleto, Armstrong said with a grin: "Bix (the late trumpeter Bix Beiderbecke) tried to get me up there to play his first horn."

Laino Indicted In Utica Probe

UTICA, N. Y. (AP) — Frank Laino, an official in two companies holding city contracts, was under indictment today on charges he falsified a state income-tax return.

The indictment was returned Thursday by a special Grand Jury investigating alleged misconduct in Utica's city government.

Gov. Rockefeller last month expanded the state probe to include tax cases. The Laino indictment was the first returned under the broadened authority.

Frank Laino is a brother of Deputy Police Chief James Laino. The indictment identified those two and a third brother, Fred, as partners in the Laino-Fisk Tire Service, which supplies tires for city vehicles.

Frank also is an official in Nick Laino Sons Inc., which holds a $330,000 contract with the city for collecting garbage.

Frank Laino pleaded innocent to the tax indictment when he appeared before Justice John S. Marsh of State Supreme Court. He was released in $2,500 bail. Marsh set July 14 for hearing any motions made in the case. The indictment charged Laino with three misdemeanor counts involving $8,000 in taxes.

A charge of bookmaking also is pending against Frank Laino. He was one of 13 men arrested in a crackdown on several establishments in the city.

State Police and aides of Special State Prosecutor Robert E. Fischer conducted the raids. Fischer is in charge of the state investigation into vice and crime in Utica and Oneida County. The current phase deals with the Utica city government and its purchasing practices.

Find Boys in Swamp

SPRING VALLEY, N. Y. (AP) — Two small boys lost in a swamp were found at 1 a. m. today, scattered on a fallen tree trunk awaiting rescue.

Kenneth Davis, 8, of Jamaica, L. I., and Jeffrey Steinmann, 7, of The Bronx, were reported missing at 6 p. m. from their summer homes at the camp hill day camp in the Mt. Ivy section.

Contingents from the Hillcrest and Pearl River Fire Departments fanned out through the swamp, finding the boys at 1 a. m.

The boys told rescuers that when they realized they were lost they decided to wait out the night on the log.

Talks on A&P Pact Break Off

NEW YORK (AP) — Talks between representatives of the A&P, food store chain and a striking warehousemen's union have been broken off indefinitely.

Federal mediators brought both sides together yesterday for the first time in 10 days.

After the day-long session, the mediators said the company and union were "still very far apart."

Four hundred A&P stores in the New York metropolitan area are closed because of lack of supplies from the warehouses, struck by 1,400 members of the teamsters union for 18 days. The company has laid off 13,000 other employees.

The union struck for various contract improvements.

Fish Feeds 250

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — A sheatfish caught in the Koerces River was big enough to make soup for 250 persons. The fresh water fish, said the official news agency MTI, weighed 149.6 pounds and was almost seven feet long.
